It emits its light pleasantly upwards and downwards and creates a stylish play of light on the façade, providing discreet yet effective lighting. With protection class IP44, PARANA is reliably protected against splash water and is therefore ideal for outdoor use. Whether at the front door, along the house wall or around the house - the light ensures greater safety and an inviting atmosphere. Die-cast aluminium in anthracite combined with white plastic gives RAVI a modern, robust look with a timeless character.
