

Frame THPG Porcelain white

Product code 22457

We advertise with classic materials in solid quality. This is not just an empty phrase. Other manufacturers install an impact-resistant plastic plate behind their porcelain coverings in order to pass the test institutes' hammer impact test. We solve the problem differently - by using more material. Our porcelain coverings are 13 mm thick and consist entirely of the ceramic material, which you can actually see thanks to the transparent glaze. The fact that our uncompromising approach works is confirmed not least by the VDE certification of our products.

We distinguish between two types of coverings: those for our switches, push-buttons, dimmers and outlets on the one hand and those for our junction boxes and special applications on the other. Both types are available as single or system coverings; the multiple coverings can only be combined with switches, outlets, etc. The reason for the difference is the different diameter of the inner opening for the central insert.
